The Corporation of The City of London August 1, 2007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Public's help sought to curb City pool vandalism

The City of London is asking Londoners to report any suspicious activity around its twelve outdoor pools. There has been an increase in vandalism to City pools recently occurring after hours. This is forcing the City to temporarily close some of these pools for clean up and repairs. Twenty-five hundred people rely on City pools for lessons, exercise or to keep cool each day, and the vandalism impedes their normal use of these facilities.

If you see anyone in a City pool area after hours please call police.
